

National Trade Union Women's Memorial

Kate Mullany National Historic Site

350 Eighth Street, Troy, New York

Women have played a major role in the birth and growth of the American labor movement and fighting for workers' rights. A National Memorial is being created to honor them at the Kate Mullany National Historic Site in Troy, New York.

Help the project become a reality by making a contribution as a Benefactor ($500), Patron ($300), or Contributor ($100).

Please send your check made out to American Labor Studies Center and mail to National Trade Union Women's Memorial Fund at 974 Albany Shaker Road, Latham, New York 12110-1401.

Donors will be recognized on the Memorial.

